No two boats may touch or appear to touch during tournament hours. This includes non-contestant boats as well as tournament boats.

Official Checkpoint

There shall be only one official checkpoint for checkout in the morning and check-in in the afternoon; this checkpoint shall be designated at the draw. Fishing hours will be announced prior to the tournament and at registration. During registration each team will be given a boat number. A tournament official will inspect all boats for safety equipment, live bait, and alcohol. No fish shall be weighed in without proof of boat check. At the time of checkout all competitors and their boats shall be in full compliance with all rules set forth by the tournament officials. All competitors must checkout and check-in at the official checkpoint. All fishing must cease upon check-in. Disqualification will result from "culling" inside the five mile per hour buoys at the official check-in point. There will be a tournament official posted at the tournament check-in point and each team will be responsible to drive by and announce to said official their boat number. This allows tournament officials to verify each competitor's return. Contestants may not weigh in until there is an official available to start the weigh in.
